REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and Citizens of Surry :

I submit my second annual report as superintendent of schools. I wish first to speak of your local school conditions and then to call attention to some of the features of the organization that has been developed to carry out the provisions of the law of 1919.

The scarcity of teachers throughout the school year 1919-1920 was serious. Teachers could be had for city and village schools, thought not all of these were well qualified, but in many cases none could be had for the schools remote from railroad stations or large villages. In the midst of such conditions you were especially fortunate to be able to have experienced teachers and to hold them throughout the year. At the close of the year the situation in general had improved slightly but it was necessary to offer to the new high school graduates an opportunity to get six weeks training at the summer school and admit them to teaching positions in the fall in order to relieve the shortage that was still prevailing. You have one of these in your North End school this year and we must all recognize the fact that she had had very little special training and no experience in teaching and cooperate with her in a spirit of helpfulness and kindly guidance.

In spite of an unusually severe winter your schools were all maintained for the required thirty-six weeks without undue hardship, and the results in the progress of the children in school must be pleasing to you. All the pupils were found worthy of promotion at the end of the year, with the exception of three in the first grade, and in a few cases double promotions seemed warranted. The total enrollment of the schools was 43, the average membership 35, the average attendance 33, and the percent of attendance 92. The state average in percent of attendance was 92.

The improvements that have been made in the school buildings at the North End and in the Village have met reasonably well the minimum requirements of the state board as outlined in my report a year ago, and it has been found possible at the West Hill to seat the pupils so that the light is fairly adequate and other conditions seem to be fairly satisfactory except that the outhouse is not what it ought to be. The ceiling and walls of the Village school should be painted or tinted. The fulfilling of the conditions laid down in the minimum requirements is a condition required for granting of state aid, so that it will be necessary to make any further changes or improvements that may be found lacking, or to provide the money for making such changes at the coming March meeting, in order for you to secure state aid this year. After this is done a progressive and comprehensive plan of schoolhouse improvement should be adopted, to be carried out in the next few years. I suggest for your consideration and discussion that it may be practicable to consolidate all your schools in one building and so locate that as to accommodate all parts of the town without excessive amount of transportation and without undue hardship to any children. Such a consolidation would have certain very great advantages, and should be taken into consideration before plans are made to make further improvements in schoolhouses. Whatever plan is adopted for the future should include better heaters with some provision for circulation of the air and for good ventilation, modern desks in all rooms, new maps and other equipment, and suitable room and equipment for some work in agriculture, carpentry, cooking and sewing.

For an extended discussion of the working of the new school law I must refer you to the biennial report of the State Board of Education, but for the benefit of many to whom that report is not available I will summarize some of the most important features. The State Board has authority under the law to "make such rules and regulations as may seem desirable to secure the efficient administration of the public schools," and the law further provides that "it shall be the duty of the school boards and employees of school districts to comply with the rules and regulations of the state board." Accordingly such rules and regulations have been prescribed and the most important among them are in substance as follows:

1. The School Board shall elect the teachers upon recommendation of the superintendent and fix their salaries; employ janitors and other necessary employees; authorize purchases; provide approved schoolhouses and proper transportation; prepare a budget of expenditures and, in state-aided districts, keep accounts in a prescribed manner; hold meetings as often as once in two months; require the superintendent to be present, and keep record of transactions; perform all other duties not specifically committed to the superintendent; and upon recommendation of the superintendent determine the subjects of instruction.

2. The Superintendent shall be nominated by the joint board of the union and employed by the state board and he shall give his entire time to the performance of his duties; he shall enforce the rules and regulations of the school board and of the state board and the laws relating to the school attendance and employment of children, reporting violations of these and other laws affecting the welfare of children to the proper officers; he shall direct and supervise the work of the teachers and janitors and have the necessary authority to make such direction effective; nominate all teachers; select and purchase textbooks and supplies in accordance with the rules of the school board and the state board; keep records and make reports of his doings; remove any teacher or other employee found to be immoral or incompetent, subject to the law provided for such cases; provide for temporary vacancies, and secure fuel and other supplies immediately needed if the school board fails to do so; admit pupils to school in accordance with the laws of the state and the rules of the state board, assign them to classes and grades, and promote them in accordance with their attainments.

3. The Programs of Studies prepared by the State Board are accepted and approved, and a standard school shall be equipped with books, supplies and apparatus sufficient to perform the work outlined in them. Regulations have been set for the required subjects and minimum standards in the first three grades, and are in preparation for the next three.

4. Health and Physical Welfare. Every district shall employ a school physician who shall make at least one annual examination of the pupils, report defects found to the parents, and with the teachers and the superintendent labor to secure remedial treatment. The superintendent shall see that physical exercises and drill have a place in the school program, and he shall examine school buildings and surroundings, recommend to the school board such changes as are needed, and if unable to make such recommendations effective he shall report to the Commissioner of Education and to the State Board of Health.

5. Shortened School Year. The law prescribes that all schools shall be maintained for at least thirty-six weeks in each year, but it also provides that special permission may be given by the state board upon application of the school board of the district to reduce the number of weeks. Unless such permission is given, "it is then the duty of the Commissioner, if any school board should fail in its duty, to direct the superintendent in charge to continue the schools. The expenditures may be paid from the funds of the State Board of Education and reimbursement for moneys so advanced by the State Board must be provided for by the district at a special meeting or at its next annual meeting." (This regulation was adopted July 20, 1920.)

The distribution of the Equalization Fund is made by the State Board, on the basis of carefully prepared budgets of proposed expenditures submitted by the School Board and Superintendent, and in accordance with certain established principles in order to assure a fair and impartial apportionment. In general, the expenditures proposed are considered on the average requirements of the state and of expenditures which each district had made in previous years. The amounts allowed by the State Board under each item of the budget in your district is shown in the financial statements following this report. State aid is not given for the "overhead" expenses of the district, but only for "maintenance" of the required schools, including expenses of instruction, expenses of operating the school plant, minor repairs and expenses, medical inspection, transportation, and elementary school tuition.

In closing, I would express my appreciation of the uniform cooperation and consideration given me in my work and wherever I have come in contact with the School Board and citizens.

Respectfully,

VERNON S. AMES.

Marlboro, N. H., Jan. 31, 1921.
